Graphic Section
Part Six

New York Tribune

Graphic Section
September 21, 1919

The greatest fire New York City has ever known—the refinery of the Standard Oil Company at Greenpoint, Brooklyn—that burned furiously for three days, destroyed millions of gallons of oil and caused damage estimated at $5,000,000. Over 1,000 firemen fought the spectacular blaze—300 were treated for burns and minor injuries.

Left—Ambulance surgeons with the aid of a pulmotor resuscitate a fireman overcome by smoke. Right—A fireman utterly exhausted after his all night battle with the flames falls asleep at daybreak on a pile of hose. The fire but gave added proof of the wonderful ability, endurance, courage and heroism of New York's fire fighters.

Underwood. E. A. Waterman.

Man o' War, one of the greatest horses ever developed in this country, just after winning the rich Futurity at Belmont Park a week ago yesterday. A great crowd saw Jockey Johnny Loftus bring Man o' War home an easy winner. International.

Cardinal Mercier of Belgium and Cardinal Gibbons of the United States photographed on the occasion of the Belgian hero's visit to Cardinal Gibbons's home in Baltimore, where he made his first public speech in America last Sunday.

International.

The latest picture of the historic U. S. S. Oregon. President Wilson, Secretary Daniels and Admiral Rodman reviewed the new Pacific Fleet from the Oregon's bridge in Seattle a week ago yesterday.

Underwood.