DIED.

At Bladensburgh, Prince George's county, Maryland, on Friday the 28th ult. Dr. Alexander Mitchell—a man of integrity, rectitude and liberality—the gentleness of his manners, the kindness of his heart, and the generosity of his disposition, were conspicuous through the whole of his deportment, and in all the various relations of life, as husband, father, friend; in a word, he was an honest man, a friend of human nature, and a valuable member of society—eminent in his profession—and few characters will be found more universally, or more justly lamented by a circle of friends.—In him the neighbourhood has sustained a great loss, and his readiness to obey their calls in this sickly season outweighed in his mind private interest—and he thereby became a sacrifice to the calls of humanity.

NEW-YORK, September 28.

Important Dispatches from Mr. Pinckney, our minister at the Spanish court, arrived yesterday in the brig Hope from Cadiz. They are borne by Lieut. Dalton, of the navy, who informs that Mr. Pinckney would leave Madrid on his return to the United States, on the 20th August. The ultimatum of the Spanish government is said to be of such a nature as it is impossible for the United States even to accede to.

BOULOGNE, July 21.

The Emperor Napoleon arrived in our road at 7 o'clock yesterday morning H went on board several of the vessels belonging to the flotilla.

July 22.

We had yesterday a very violent gale of wind at 11 o'clock. The Emperor went immediately down to the beach, and saved with his own hands a number of unhappy persons, who were nigh being swallowed up by the waves. In the impetuosity of his zeal to afford succour to some poor wretches who were tossed up and down by the boisterous waves, he plunged into the sea, although a sailor apprised him of his danger. I tremble to inform you, that our beloved sovereign had nigh fallen a victim to this glorious act of self devotion, but fortunately for France he was preserved from the danger. The soldiers and sailors were highly affected by the affable, indeed it may be said, the friendly manner in which the Emperor remonstrated with the sailor who endeavoured to prevent him from plunging into the sea. The Emperor returned to head quarters at half past 4 in the morning, excessively fatigued. This day he visited every part of the shore to give the necessary orders. It is almost superfluous to mention, that the troops, both naval and military, executed them with alacrity.

For the National Intelligencer.

Like the Leming, the assailants of our administration, keep one unvarying course without ever turning or even looking to the right or to the left, seemingly careless of the miserable condition into which their pride and folly has sunk them. Happy, however, for this country, they have now reached the water's edge, without committing further damage or depredation on their rout, than destroying a few waggon loads of blank paper and about 100 kegs of lampblack, which some silly fellows, out of wantonness, put in their way. They are now crawling over our gun-boats, but as these boats have been constructed (by way of experiment) according with the best models brought by our captains from the Mediterranean, recommended by them, and built under their immediate eye and superintendance, it is presumed they will only leave a viscous kind of matter on their sides, which the gentle act of easy sailing at once takes off without the least injury or inconvenience whatever. When they get over the gun-boats, and fairly take water on the opposite side, we shall soon hear no more of them, as it is clear from their awkward & convolving motion, but few of them can swim long. One of them, indeed, with a rancour and malignity peculiar to these little animals, (but which in fact their imbecility makes diverting) pursued the gun boat from Norfolk to this place, yet having nothing here to feed on that suits their appetite, they must soon be gone.

BY AUCTION,

A House near the War Office.

ON Saturday the 6th inst. (October) at 2 o'clock P M I will sell by auction my house on Pennsylvania avenue; the fourth west of President's square. It is two stories high, 36 feet front, 33 feet deep, has four rooms on each floor, and a flat roof which by throwing a roof over it will give four additional rooms There is an alley of six feet wide adjoining, and the house can at a trifling expence be made two houses of six rooms each. Its public situation makes it eligible for business, and its vicinity to the public offices ensures a purchaser a good tenant if he wants one. Terms of sale, between three and four hundred dollars cash, the remainder in one, two, and three years bearing interest, and secured by mortgage on the property.

By JAMES MADISON, Secretary of State of the United States.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given, in pursuance of the Act of Congress passed on the 26th March last, entitled "An act supplementary to the act, entitled "An act relative to the election of a President and Vice President of the United States, and declaring the officer who shall act as President, in case of vacancies in the offices both of President and Vice-President."—That the amendment proposed, during the last session of Congress, to the Constitution of the United States, respecting the manner of voting for President and Vice-President of the United States, has been ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, to wit: by those of Vermont, Rhode-Island, New-York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, North-Carolina, South-Carolina and Georgia, and has thereby become valid as part of the Constitution of the United States.

Given under my hand at the City of Washington, this twenty fifth day of September, 1804.

(Signed)
JAMES MADISON.

The Printers of the laws of the United States are requested to publish the above notification and the annexed law, three times in their Gazettes.

AN ACT

Supplementary to the act, entitled "An act relative to the election of a President and Vice President of the United States, and declaring the officer who shall act as President, in case of vacancies in the offices both of President and Vice President."

Be it enacted, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That whenever the amendment proposed during the present session of Congress to the constitution of the United States, respecting the manner of voting for President and Vice President of the United States, shall have been ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, the secretary of state shall forthwith cause a notification thereof to be made to the executive of every state, and shall also cause the same to be published, in at least one of the newspapers printed in each state, in which the laws of the United States are annually published.—The executive authority of each state shall cause a transcript of the said notification to be delivered to the electors appointed for that purpose, who shall first thereafter meet in such state, for the election of a President and Vice President of the United States: and whenever the said electors shall have received the said transcript of notification, or whenever they shall meet more than five days subsequent to the publication of the ratification of the above mentioned amendment, in one of the newspapers of the state, by the secretary of state, they shall vote for President and Vice President of the United States, respectively, in the manner directed by the above mentioned amendment, and having made and signed three certificates of all the votes given by them, each of which certificates shall contain two distinct lists, one, of the votes given for President, and the other, of the votes given for Vice President: they shall seal up the said certificates, certifying on each, that lists of all the votes of such state given for President, and of all the votes given for Vice President, is contained therein, and shall cause the said certificates to be transmitted and disposed of, and in every other respect act in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement. And every other provision of the act to which this is a supplement, and which is not virtually repealed by this act, shall extend and apply to every election of a President and Vice President of the United States, made in conformity to the above mentioned amendment to the constitution of the United States.

And whereas, the above mentioned amendment may be ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the states, and thereupon become immediately valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of the constitution, on a day so near the day fixed by law for the meeting of the electors in the several states, that the electors shall not in every state be apprised of the said ratification, and may vote in a manner no longer conformable with the constitution, as amended, whereby several states might be deprived of their vote in the election of a President and Vice President; for remedy whereof,

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That the electors who shall be appointed in each state for the election of a President and Vice-President of the United States, shall at every such election, unless they shall have received a transcript of the notification of the ratification of the above mentioned amendment to the constitution, or unless they shall meet more than five days subsequent to the publication of the said ratification by the Secretary of State, in one of the newspapers of the state, vote for President and Vice-President of the United States, in the following manner, that is to say: they shall vote for two persons as President and Vice-President, in conformity with the first section of the second article of the constitution. And in other respects act in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this act is a supplement; and they shall likewise vote for one person as President, and for one person as Vice-President, in conformity with the above mentioned amendment of the Constitution; and in other respects act in conformity with the provisions of the first section of this act. But those certificates only, of votes given for President and Vice-President of the United States, shall be opened by the President of the Senate, for the purpose of being counted which shall contain the list or lists of votes given in conformity with the Constitution, as in force on the day fixed by law for the meeting of the electors, by whom the said votes shall have been given.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That whenever, by the provisions of the second section of this act, it shall be the duty of the electors for any state, to vote in conformity, both with the constitution, and of the proposed amendment thereto, the executive authority of such state shall cause six lists of the names of the electors of the state to be made and certified, and to be delivered to the said electors on or before the day fixed by law for them to meet and vote for President and Vice-President, and the said electors shall enclose one of the said lists in each of the certificates by them made and sealed, in conformity to the provisions of this act, and of the act to which this is a supplement.

NATL. MACON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

JESSE FRANKLIN,
President of the Senate, pro tempore.

PROPOSALS

BY JOHN DIXON,

For printing by Subscription, a Periodical Work, to be entitled the

VIRGINIA MAGAZINE,

OR,

Monthly Miscellany.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work to contain 68 pages (Octavo) monthly, of selected miscellaneous prose, and of original prose also, whenever the exertions of the Editor, and his Assistant, and the communications of correspondents can supply it.

Of improvements and experiments in Agriculture, with which the Editor hopes to be furnished by the Farmers, &c. of this and other states, or to select himself.

Of Debates in Congress.

Of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence.

Of Selected Poetry, and Original too, whenever good can be procured and not otherwise.

Marriages and Deaths.

Of Prices Current.

II. The work to be printed on good paper, and with a neat type.

III. The price to Subscribers, to be Five Dollars per annum, one half to be paid on the delivery of the first number, and the balance at the expiration of six months after.

IV. The work to be put to press as soon as 300 Subscribers are obtained.

PROSPECTUS.

THE utility and rational amusement derivable from well conducted Magazines, probably will not be controverted. They afford an asylum for many fugitive essays, that might otherwise meet with a more rigorous fate than they merit. The brevity of their articles and their longer duration of existence than that of some other periodical publications, hold out an inducement to that indolence too frequently the attendant of genius, and to those pressed by the cares of business, to devote an hour or two to their own entertainment, and the pleasure and instruction of the community, while the greater variety of subjects they comprise, gives them a decided superiority over several other works.—For they contain something to suit the Palate of every one, and may be particularly pleasing and instructive to those who have not the inclination or the leisure to peruse more prolix writings. There are few countries, where a love of reading prevails and science is regarded, in which Magazines are not numerous and well received. And yet the Subscriber thinks he is correct in saying that not one is published in the respectable state of Virginia. He designs to publish one, principally of a Literary complection, provided he obtains adequate support, in which case he flatters himself, that his exertions will prove fully satisfactory to his patrons. For any reluctance to subscribe, arising from a non compliance of any persons who may have issued proposals, similar to the foregoing, the subscriber has it only in his power to say that he pledges his honor to comply with his engagement, if supported by the public.
