WASHINGTON CITY.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2.

On Monday the House of Representatives were exclusively engaged until 5 o'clock, with closed doors, in discussing the propriety of taking off the injunction of secrecy relative to the measures taken on Spanish affairs, which issued in taking off the injunction of secrecy. The following is the journal of these proceedings. Long as it is, it is but a skeleton. Such, however, as it is, it will be read with a deep interest. We have not time to accompany these proceedings with any elucidating remarks. We shall merely say that there appears to have been on this subject an honest diversity of opinion, which resulted in the adoption of measures of a pacific complection, by a large majority. On the final passage of the bill, the whole votes were 130, of which 76 republican votes were in favor of the bill, and 27 republican and 27 federal (including every federal member that voted) against it.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, the 6th of DECEMBER, 1805.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter & communication from the President of the U. S. which were read.

Ordered, That the said letter and communication, together with the documents accompanying the same, be referred to Mr. John Randolph, Mr. Nicholson, Mr. John Cotton Smith, Mr. Mumford, Mr. Williams of S. Carolina, Mr. Bidwell and Mr. Brown.

FRIDAY, the 3rd of JANUARY, 1806.

Mr. John Randolph, from the committee to whom were referred the message and communication from the President of the U. S of the 6th of December last, together with the documents accompanying the same, made a report thereon, as followeth:

Report of the committee to whom was referred the message of the President of the U. S. of the 6th December, 1805.

The committee have beheld with just indignation the hostile spirit manifested by the court of Madrid towards the government of the U. S. in withholding the ratification of its convention with us, although signed by its own minister under the eye of his sovereign, unless with alterations of its terms, affecting claims of the U. S. which, by the express conditions of the instrument itself, were reserved for future discussion;—in piratical depredations upon our fair commerce:—in obstructing the navigation of the Mobille;—in refusing to come to any fair and amicable adjustment of the boundaries of Louisiana; and in a daring violation, by persons acting under the authority of Spain, and no doubt, apprised of her sentiments and views, of our undisputed limits which she had solemnly recognised by treaty.

To a government having interests distinct from those of its people and disregarding their welfare, here is ample cause for a formal declaration of war, on the part of the U. S. and such, did they obey the impulse of their feelings alone, is the course which the committee would not hesitate to recommend; but to a government identified with its citizens, too far removed from the powerful nations of the earth for its safety to be endangered by their hostility, peace must always be desirable, so long as it is compatible with the honor and interests of the community.

Whilst the U. S. continue burthened with a debt, which annually absorbs two thirds of their revenue, and duties upon imports constitute the only resource from which that revenue can be raised, without resorting to systems of taxation, not more ruinous and oppressive, than they are uncertain and precarious, the best interests of the union cry aloud for peace. When that debt shall have been discharged, and the resources of the nation thereby liberated, then may we rationally expect to raise, even in time of war, the supplies which our frugal institutions require, without recurring to the hateful and destructive expedient of loans; then, and not till then, may we bid defiance to the world. The present moment is peculiarly auspicious for this great and desirable work. Now, if ever, the national debt is to be paid, by such financial arrangements as will accelerate its extinction, by reaping the rich harvest of neutrality, and thus providing for that diminution of revenue, which experience teaches us to expect on the general pacification of Europe. And the committee indulge a hope, that, in the changed aspect of affairs in that quarter, Spain will find motives for a just fulfilment of her stipulations with us, and an amicable settlement of limits, upon terms not more beneficial to the U. S. than advantageous to herself,—securing to her an ample barrier on the side of Mexico, and to us the countries watered by the Mississippi, and to the eastward of it. But whilst the committee perceive, in the general uproar of Europe, a state of things peculiarly favorable to the peaceable pursuit of our best interests, they are neither insensible to the indignity, which has been offered on the part of Spain, nor unwilling to repel similar outrage. On the subject of self defence, when the territory of the U. S. is insulted, there can be but one opinion;—whatever difference may exist on the question, whether that protection which a vessel finds in our harbors, shall be extended to her, by the nation, in the Indian or Chinese seas? Under this impression, the committee submit the following resolution;—the annexed letter from the Secretary of war will explain why it is not more explicit.

Resolved, That such number of troops not exceeding   as the President of the U. S. shall deem sufficient to protect the southern frontiers of the U. S. from Spanish inroad and insult, and to chastise the same, be immediately raised.

The said report was read and ordered to be referred to the consideration of a committee of the whole House on Monday next.

On motion made and seconded, that the House do come to the following resolutions:

Resolved, That   dollars be appropriated by law for the purpose of defraying any extraordinary expences which may be incurred in the intercourse between the U. S and foreign nations, to be paid out of any monies in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, and to be applied under the direction of the President of the U. S. who shall have authority, if necessary, to borrow the said sum or any part thereof, in behalf of the U. S. at a rate of interest not exceeding 6 per centum per annum, and shall cause an account of the expenditure thereof to be laid before Congress as soon as may be.

Resolved, That the additional duty of two and a half per centum ad valorem, imposed by an act, entitled "An act further to protect the commerce and seamen of the U. S. against the Babary powers," be continued for   years.

Ordered, That the said resolutions be committed to the committee of the whole House, to whom is committed the before mentioned report of the committee on the message & communication from the President of the U. S. of the 6th of December last.
