Words and Music by Louis W. Pritzkow.

Shrewsbury, Mass.

IN THE BATTLE OVER THERE

Now his name it may be Clancy
O'Hooligan Pat or Mike
He's on the job like Finnegan
At home or on the Hike
With his funnytales and Irish wit
He'll make you laugh 'till you almost split
But He's a Soldier doing his bit
He's a fighting Son of a Gun

Chorus

Then it's Michael here or Paddy there
Sure you'll find him everywhere
He's thr life Begorra in Peace or Strife
But for medals he don't care
In the mids't of the shot and shell flying fast
He'll be pumping it back to them to the last
And he'll make the Kaiser mighty sick
In the Battle over there

Now the Sammys Tommys and Frenchmen
They'll all come in a drove
When the Campfire's lit they'll come and sit
On the ground, for Mike's the stove
In No Man's Land he takes his stand
In the trenches he waits for the command
With a skip and hop he's Over the Top
He's a fighter brave and grand

Chorus
