WE FIGHT WITH YOU AND WIN

Words by M. Theresa Perkins

We fight with you and win.

Music by Charles M. Schmidt

Voice

Our hearts go out to you dear boys, when gathered at our meals,

We think of you in trench and march or camping on the fields. No damask fine a-dorns your board, no crystal filled with wine, Our pray'r is notwith-standing this, You've plenty

We fight with you and win

Our hearts go out to you dear boys
When gathered at our meals
We think of you in trench or march
Or camping on the fields.
No damask fine adorns your board,
No crystal filled with wine.
Our prayer is, notwithstanding this You've plenty when you dine

So rally 'round your standard boys
With hearts made strong and true
To know the dear ones way back home
Are struggling there for you.
We'll share the burden of the strife,
If not the conflict's din,
Side by side in spirit, boys,
We fight with you and win.

Chorus

A glance into our larder, boys,
The store looks rather spare,
We're cutting our all luxuries
To send them over there.
The sacrifice is one of love
One we're glad to make
That you, and those we stand for, boys.
The better care to take.
