THE SUNSHINE FOLLOWS THE RAIN.

Lively.

O. Tadell.

Sopr. f I heard a song on the moor-land brown, When the Alto. f days grew fair and long; Me thought no voice in the mf noi- sy town Could sing, could sing so sweet a song; could mf sing, could sing so sweet a song. It was but a herd-boy, p all a lone a lone on the show- e- ry

My thoughts turn back to that April day as I pass the ci. ty street; but the brown, brown moor..... lies far a way from the tread of wea ry feet, from the tread of wea ry feet;..... yet ev er the song rings

God knows it is hard to fret and strive For the gold that soon is spent;..... It seems some times that the sin - ners thrive while saints are less con - tent!..... But he knows too that the clouds will part and the hid - den path grow plain;..... His an - gels sing to the
