COLUMBIA TO OFFER NEW GRAHAM DANCE

'Serpent Heart' on Program Opening 3-Day Festival at University This Evening

"Serpent Heart," a new ballet by Martha Graham, the dancer, will receive its première at the opening performance of the three-day Second Annual Festival of Contemporary American Music tonight at 8:30 in Columbia University's McMillin Academic Theatre, Broadway and 116th Street. Aaron Copland's Pulitzer Prize winning work, "Appalachian Spring," with choreography by Miss Graham, will complete this evening's program.
