

Lucretia Kimball Eaton, b. March 12, 1803, was for some time engaged in the millinery business in Warner. She was a devoted sister, and spent many years in the home of her brother, Dr. Jacob S. Eaton, of Bristol, and two years with her brother, Lucien B. Eaton, at Fremont, Ind. She died at the residence of her brother, Dr. Jacob S. Eaton, at Harvard, Mass., July 13, 1881. She was a woman of delicate health, but of superior mental attainments.

Jacob Sawyer Eaton, b. Jan. 4, 1805, pursued studies preparatory to college under Rev. Dr. Woods and Rev. Mr. Kelley, but deciding to enter the medical profession without a collegiate course he entered the office of Dr. Buswell, of Warner, and attended lectures at medical colleges at Hanover, and at Philadelphia, Penn. He began the practice of medicine at Alexandria, and afterward, on a general invitation of the townspeople, removed to Bristol, where he remained twenty-four years, very successful in his profession, and greatly beloved by all who knew him. For the health of his family in 1855 he removed to Stowe, Mass., and afterward to South Deerfield and Harvard, Mass., where he spent his old age in the surprising possession of all his faculties. With a rare enjoyment of elegant literature, with a brilliant imagination, with a heart full of sympathy for all the trying conditions of humanity, he was always at the front on all questions of reform. Early consecrating himself to the service of his Divine Master, he was prominent and active in the various departments of church work. Quick and tender in his sympathies for his kindred, he was among them an acknowledged and cherished patriarch. The annual gatherings at Eaton Grange have been incomplete without his presence. He m.
