©CLE510086
APR 30 1921
R

THE U. S. A. BOYS

NATIONAL LYRIC

By

JEFF W. WAYNICK G. W. ASHLEY

50

SEDALIA, MO.:
Published by A. W. PERRY'S SONS, Music Publishers.

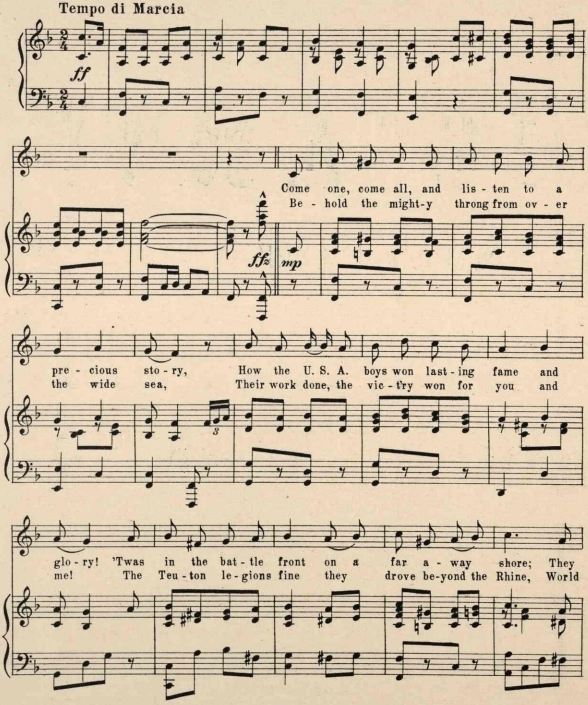
M1646
.A

The U. S. A. Boys

National Lyric

JEFF W. WAYNICK

G. W. ASHLEY



Copyright MCMXXI by J. W. WAYNICK.

freed the world from Teu - ton rage ev - er - - more. 'Mid shriek-ing shot and Li - ber - ty is bloom-ing now, O, so fine! In the lap of a shell and can-non's aw - ful boom, The tree of Li - ber - ty was league of na-tions strong and grand, Ev - er march-ing on, uset to thrive and bloom. The sol-dier boys we'll not for-get when they cease to nit - ed heart and hand. The sol-dier boys we'll not for-get when they cease to roam; We'll meet them we'll greet them when they ga - ther home.

roam; We'll meet them we'll greet them when they ga - ther home.

CHORUS

O, the Yan-kee boys are world beat-ers, staunch and free! And just the fair-est set that ev-er you did see. On eith-er side of the great At-lan-tic O-cean They proved their faith with pa-tri-ot-ic de-vo-tion;

Set - ting a good - ly pace for all the hu - man race, This King - rid - den do - main to turn a - bout and face, For the liv - ing boys a bright crown of fade - less red white and blue with tears and flow - ers for the loy - al dead!

521718