It's All In The Flag.

Verse by Edgar A. Guest. Melody and Refrain by J. A. MacKinnon.

1. It's all in the Flag! The love for your lad, The
2. It's all in the Flag! Their no-thing your own, That 3. Your boys ed-u-ca-tion, your dream for the lad, Your dreams for his fut-ure and days that are glad, The you can do-nud or make sure of a-lone, You may laugh-ter pro-tec-tion from all that is bad, The joys of your child-ren, your hopes for the years, The bur-y your treas-ures down deep in a mine, May home you're so proud of, the fort-une you'd make, The laugh-ter and sun-shine to ban-ish their tears, hoard in a vault your se-cur-i-ties fine, rest in life's twi-light you're plan-ning to take

The plans you are build-ing, your rich-es and all Are But they're not worth the trouble to car-ry them there Un-Are wrapped in the Flag that flies ov-er us all, And you're wrapped in Old Glo-ry, So don't let it fall. like you are liv-ing Old Glo-ry in vain!

Wasted your life if Old Glo-ry should fall.

Refrain

It's all in Old Glo-ry, our Beau-ti-ful Flag, The Flag of the U. S. A., Which stands up for all that is best in life. It marks a more ex-cel-lent way. This world shall be free from the ty-ranic rule. All peop-les must self-gov-erned be, And we of A-mer-i-ca, chos-en of God, Shed the light for all to see
