

Philippe William de Nassau Prince d'Orange d. 1618 or 1608 ? m. 1606 Leonor or Eléonore de Bourbon b. 1587 d. 1619 dau. of Henry I, Prince de Condé. Armes of Lannoy de Willerval:—Brabant—Bore: Lannoy armes a la bordure engrailed de gules. [ar, 3 lions vert & bord. eng. gu.] (see fig. 6). (Crest) Cimier: a lion rampant de sinople entre un vol d'argent [lion between 2 wings].

A: [1st son of Guillebert] HUGUES de LANNOY (Hue) seigneur de Santes chevalier councillor & chamberlain du Roy (to the KING). Born 1384. He was noted for his courage & fervour in the war of Prusse (Prussia) against the Turks and the Tartars, and on his return was worthily employed by Jean duc de Bourgogne [killed 1419] his Prince in the dispute which he had in France with those of the maison d'Orleans (house of Orleans). He was later captain de Poitiers & of Montargis & created "Maitre des Arbalestriers du Roy" MASTER of the ARBALESTRIERS of the KING [Charles VI & Charles VII of France] by lettres given at Saint Pharon de Meaux January 22 1421. He exercised again this charge the 4th November 1422 (accession of Chas. VII)—A company of Cross-bowmen to command whom was one of the highest honors—(see André d'Espéron) "money-changer of the Treasure" and was made captain de laville (city) de Compiègne June 20 1421—HENRY VI (1422) King of England in consideration of the services which Hugues had rendered to the King Charles VI (d. 1380) his grandfather & to the King of England his father (Henry V d. 1422) gave to him the estate of Argies and the others which had fallen to Pierre de Bourbon sire de Preaux and which went consequently to the seigneur d'Offemont, which he sold in 1429 to Jacques de Crevecoeur seigneur de Thoix. Philippe "le bon" duke of Burgundy created him the seventh Chevalier de la TOISON d'OR (VII) in 1429. In 1433 he was Gouverneur des pais d'Hollande de Zelande & de la Basse-Frise [GOVERNOR of HOLLAND; Zealand and Lower-Friesland] [Stadtholter von Holland]. He was himself famous in many sieges and combats in France and in Holland, and was also employed in many treaties and (ambassade) embassies with the Christian Princes. Made several voyages, to Saint Jacques in Galice (Galicia) and to Rome Italy. At last having renounced all the charges pensions and honours of the Court, he died the first of May 1456 aged 72 years and unmarried. (1461 sometimes given ?). Was interred at the Collegiate Church of Saint Pierre de Lille (St. Peter at Lille), as borne on his epitaph (which gives the data Olivier de la Marche speaks very honorably in his memoirs, and said, of him: "Hue de Lannoy seigneur de Santes fut un des notables, des sages, des vaillans and des preu d'hommes chevaliers de son temps et fit moult de beaux voyages eut charge et ordonnance de plusieurs notables ambassades, executa la guerre et fit armes en clos de sa personne contre Jean duc de Sommerset et ailleurs et étoit de ja fort vieil a celui temps et la raison pourquoy j'ecris longuement de lui c'est pour ces vertus et qu'il le valloit"—[Hue de Lannoy lord of Santes was one of the most eminent, wise, valiant honorable and true knights of his times. He made