The Lilies Bloomed Brighter in France

Words - Elizabeth G. Whittemore

music - Millicent White

Heart-sick and wea-ry of Kul-ture and sin, a na-tion was call-ing of. Where have you been a-We called to you in our an-guish and woe, Op-pressed by a mighty but mis-guided foe, You voice from a-cross Was call-ing for men Send them by thous-ands and thou-sands a-gain, The ans-wered our call That we sent to you, By stand-hearted men and the red white and blue, The Chorus.

Lil-ies bloomed brighter in France a nation was then born a-new When the ka-ki-clad men crossed ov-er ! Bringing help to the brave men in blue.
