"Old Glory." By Edward P. Dickerman.

While the Stars and stripes are floating o'er us;
And Freedom's acres stretch before us;
We can pray, every day, in the Lord's appointed way,
While justice, right, and freedom, hold sway, alway;
And those oppressed shall be redressed, we'll aid the weak and distressed
So hand in hand we'll rally 'round Old Glory.

CHORUS.

Then rally 'round Old Glory, with heart and hand;
And what she represents to day, we'll proudly make our boast alway
Hurray hurray, we'll rally 'round Old Glory.

2

Our nation's strength's her youths and maidens,
May we send them all forth well laden;
With a God fearing mind, and a heart for all mankind;
With willing hands for service that know not fail;
May right prevail, and wrong grow pale, where'er his powers our hosts assail
Our sword God's word, we'll rally 'round Old glory
