©CLE 426906
JUL -5 1918

"OLD GLORY SHALL WAVE FOREVER"

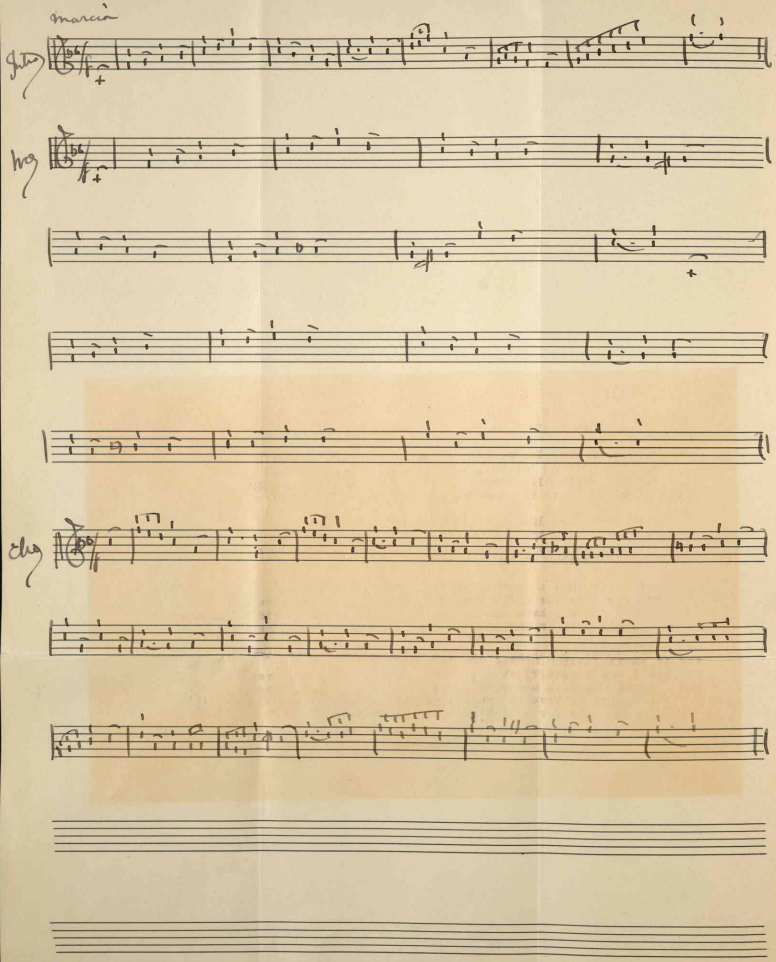
SONG

POEM AND COPYRIGHT BY MRS. LELA TALIAFERRO — 104 N. ADAMS. ST
KEWANEE. ILL.

MUSIC BY

R. A. BROWNE,
790 DAWSON ST.,
NEW YORK CITY

M1646
.B



marcia
Intro
Mg
Chg

"Old Glory Shall Wave Forever." Lela Taliaferro.

1

Come, boys, pack your belongings! let's get ready, now, to go!
The Kaiser's started driving, hear his cannons roaring so!
He's putting forth all efforts to take from us ev'ry right;
So, hurry, let's be on the go--for we must win this fight!

2

Oh, listen boys, just listen to the Kaiser at his drive;
Let's have a hot reception for him when he does arrive!
We've started in this struggle and we'll win it, once for all;
Ther'll be a jubilee at home, when Kaiser he shall fall.

3

Wait boys! wait just a moment, let me speak before you go!
Now when you face the enemy, ~~xxxxx~~ think of those you love so;
For someone of your have sweethearts, and their hearts would weigh a ton;
If you should fall in battle when you're fighting with the Hun.

CHO.

Old Glory shall wave forever; hurrah boys, and heist her high!
And it shall fall! no, never! let the world see her beauty--passing by;
Now, isn't she a dandy? just watch her if you please!
And doesn't she look handy, with her folds there in the breeze!
She's a symbol of love and purity, planted firmly by braves gone by;
Let's replant her for a million years or more, a-flying up so high!