©CE439619
JAN -8 1919

"VICTORS' RETURN"

Song

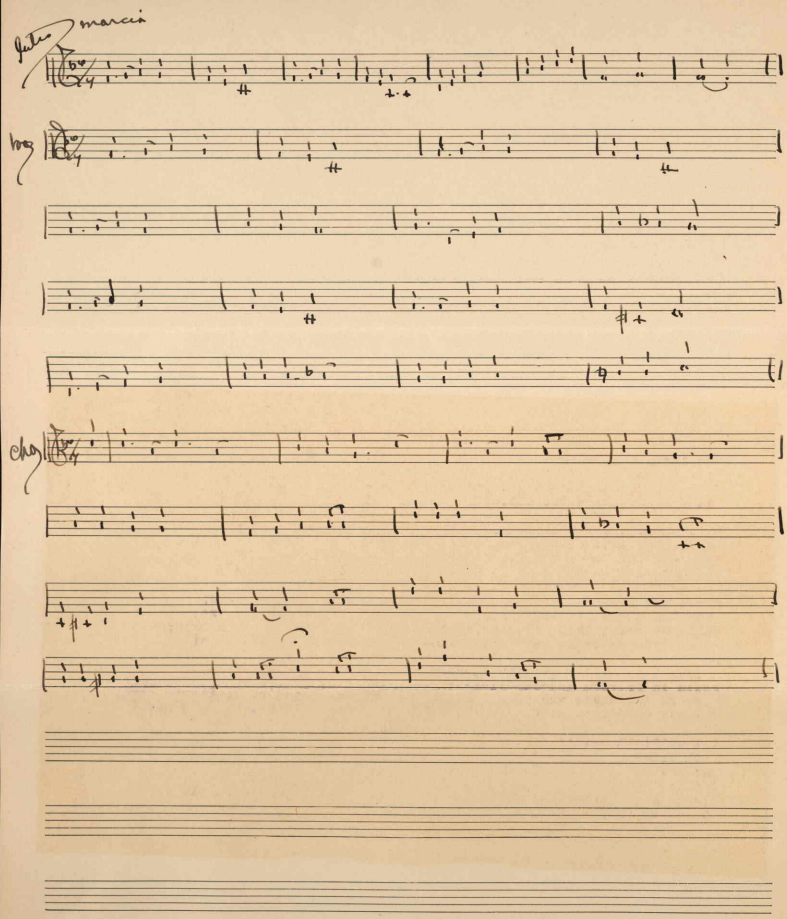
Poem and © By CARLOS A. DE HINDESONE 820 Washington St.
Boston. Mass.

Music By

R. A. BROWNE,
780 DIVISION ST.,
NEW YORK CITY

Carl Fischer, New York.
No. 4—12 lines.

M1646
.B



merci

"Victor's Return" Carlos A. De Hindesone.

1

See the Loyal Legions come; boys in khaki, brave and brown, 1
Hear the tramp of victors' feet! over highway, street and town!
Home again; the glad acclaim, battles ended--glory won--
All the land pays tribute, now, to each gallant soldier son!

2

Ev'rywhere there's loud hurrahs; ev'rywhere a welcome cry;
Ringing of a million bells, speaks that our triumphants' nigh;
Hour and the day are her, for America to rejoice;
Freedom from her woe and pain; for our boys are home again!

3

Swell the raptured greetings all, all along Old Glory's shore;
Join the songs of friendship, now, for sad partings are no more;
Children greet their fathers, now; mothers kiss each troubled brow;
Fling wide gates to our loved kin-wide, and let the victors in!

4

No, our land will ne'er forget, how they fought, together, years,
Faith in Freedom and our Flag--through rough weather, storms, and tears;
Prey'rs for those who gave their all--those who died at Vict'ry's dawn;
Say not good bye-say not good night--bid our gallant boys good morn!

CHORUS.

All hail! All hail! the victors come!
With Flags a -flying and roll of drum;
The bugles ring loud on the air,
And the sound of Victory is ev'rywhere!
Bless those sturdy boys in brown, bless those sturdy boys in blue;
Bless the hearts so loyal and true; bless the Flag that they carried through!

Carl Fischer, New York.
No. 4—12 lines.

448301