I had a let--ter from my pal who's serv--ing o'er the sea----- He went to France with oth-er Lads to fight for Lib--er--ty------- He's won some dec--o--ra---tions been pro--mot--ed from the ranks----- He's

Jim had a girl in Ten--nes-see be--fore He went a--way----- She prom-ised him that She'd be true and write him ev--ry day------- But Oh! that fick--le maid-en was as false as false could be------- She manned the front Line trench-es and seen ser--vice with the tanks - - - - I. took her heart a--way from Jim and hand--ed it to me - - - - I Know He cap-tured man-y Huns and some-thing else as well - - - He felt I was in du-ty bound to write and tell him all - - - - that says He found the time to pluck a dai--sy from the dell I in my weak--est mo--ment I al--lowed my-self to fall for Know he's fond of dai--sies and it's no sur-prise I swear - - - to her dear Charms and gra--ces and had mar-ried her in May - - - in - - - have him send this mes - - sase from his bil - - let o - - ver there stead of find - ing fault with me He sent this note to - day

Chorus.

Wait till you see - - - - - - - - - - Wait till you see - - - - - - - - -
