

Charles J. Barth attended school at Orchard Lake, Mich., Andover, Mass., and Chicago, Ill., where he took a business course at Bryant & Stratton's Business College. He has since been associated with his father in the banking business. The latter was born in Germany, coming to U. S. when fourteen years of age. In the early "sixties" he went by ox-team to Colorado. He took the lead in subscribing for the first Colo. Ry.—Kansas Pacific—and soon became a director and stockholder in several railroads in Colorado. He was also foremost in organizing several banks throughout the state and was president of the City National Bank of Denver for twenty years. Mr. Barth at the present time is the largest individual taxpayer in Colorado. At the age of seventy-six he is in perfect health. A staunch Republican in politics.
