Words by Mary R.Glasgow. Music by Luther A.Clark.

Tempo di marcia.

Quite close to Old Glory for fame.It's a thing that once an-

And the peace it proclaimed,has been lasting and good, But the old bell is shattered and worn.And so loving hands took it from our its great tower,Just to shield and to keep it from 2.

But we're casting another to hang in its place;
A bell that shall never come down;
That shall peal forth America's freedom and peace
To hill top,and valley,and town.
We shall cast it of metal,so strong and so clear,
That the whole world shall know of its power;
It shall ring down through ages,without rent or scar
Our New Liberty Bell in its tower.

2nd.Refrain.

Peace!Peace! sweet Freedom, and peace!
Bringing new joys every where.
