©CLE402113 R
MAR 15 1917

The Voice of Washington

William P. Doyle
Author and Composer

M1646
.D

Carl Fischer, New York.
No. 1—10 lines.

The Voice of Washington.

(1.a) Ground an ear to old he-ro-ic lore, Ere the Home-land's fame be marred
(b) --To the warn-ing voice of Wash-ing-ton: "Be pre-pared! Thy Freedom guard
(2.a) Trust no bub-bling fool-blown wis-dom that Off the past recles not as guide
(b) Nor pre-tend-ed love of fawn-ing knaves Flag or Home-land who de-ride

(1.con) And the Flag we love, Fly-ing breeze-ca--ressed Free-dom's Tem-ples
(2.con) While in Field of Blue Clus-tered Stars glow-bright And with stain-less

(1.con) blest a-bove, shall a-broad and here save hon-or clear,
(2.con) Stripes shield true, Nev-er knaves' re-vile nor trai-tors' guile

(1.con) Em-blem true of Lib-er-ty
(2.con) Shall im-per-il Lib-er-ty.

(Third verse)

(3.a) Ground an ear to old he-ro-ic lore, To the voice
(b) And in time of peace 'gainst war pre-pare,-Home-land trust

(3.a.con) That Free-dom won
(3.b.con) to du-ty done

(3.con) And should Stars blue-flare Ov-er Stripes red streams When the Eagle,

(3.con) ris-ing, screams, "Be-ware," Then shall des-pots, fear-ing

(3.con) read-y spear, Homage yield to Lib--er-ty.

William P. Doyle
1760 North New Hampshire St
Los Angeles, California
Author and Composer.

408264