

Established 1834.

The Evening Dispatch

COHOES, NEW YORK.

J. & M. WALLACE, Proprietors.

The oldest one-cent paper in northern N. Y., has the most modern newspaper office, operates a fast Perfecting Press and a full Battery of Mergenthaler Linotypes of the most modern make. Has every possible advantage for making a first-class newspaper. The DISPATCH has the largest circulation and carries more advertising than all the other papers in this city combined.

An advertiser does not want the Earth. But he does want a list of papers that cover distinct and separate parts of the earth.

The Democrat

A weekly paper, published at Hoosick Falls, Rensselaer County, New York, fully covers the country towns of Rensselaer County. Its readers trade in Albany, Troy, and Hoosick Falls, and many small villages in that county. Hence put the DEMOCRAT on your list.
