

KELLOGG'S LISTS.

(ESTABLISHED 1865)

Composed of bona-fide country newspapers with a genuine subscription circulation—papers that are read carefully because they are the home publications of the communities in which they are printed.

The largest and most successful advertisers have employed Kellogg's Lists for over thirty years; they use them to-day.

If you are a user of general advertising on a small, moderate, or large scale, write us for catalogue and full information.
