"When Country's Bells Chime for Peace No Rean"

Intro.

Till ready

The flowers cheer me when you are gone the birds sing to me their
The little ones have all gone to bed crying for one

Own sweet gong the angel asked O how can it be that who took what our God gave to thee. The wilded strain have been
In all piece of bread, O that an angel come from the sky In answer to the Country's reply And swing on the ropes that

Broken apart a thrilling sad feeling fills my heart, My days of joy have turned to grief, but I hope that the day will Chimes the bells, Was a sad story the mother tells a rainbow of peace be shown the way To the whole country

Come for peace. On the battle field of life so dear, Death wings might shadow you, Love I fear by break of day, Dreaming, I heard a voice sweet and low As the old boat Drifted into the shore
