

Dr. Samuel Gregg, a well known physician in Boston, was Mrs. Hannah G. Andrew's cousin. Joseph, her brother, resident in New Boston, attained marked success. In any case where he was a party in litigation, he would conduct his own suit. Mrs. Andrew's sister, Sally Gregg, m. John Brown, whose sons, Jeremiah and Joel, graduated at Dartmouth. Jeremiah pursued law in Boston, and Joel practised medicine in West Newton, Mass. Gov. J. Q. A. Brackett, of Massachusetts, is a grandson of this Sally Gregg and her husband, John Brown.

Recapitulation of the Gregg family,—

Capt. James Gregg, m. Janet Cargil.
 Thomas Gregg, m. Ann Leslie.
 James Gregg, m. Janet Collins.
 Hannah Gregg, m. Nathan Andrew.

Nathan and Hannah Andrew were both famous for their industry, and, though she was lame from childhood, she was not one whit behind him in this characteristic. Her skill with the loom was widely known. They were people of thrift, kind to the poor, and neighborly to all. In due time, with the enlargement of their means, they erected, in 1811, a more ample house and barn in Sutton, where they removed. A characteristic of Mr. Andrew was manifested when these buildings were suddenly reduced to ashes in April 19, 1834. It was the custom then, in a loss by fire, for the neighbors to aid in making it good by their gifts. This aid Mr. Andrew declined. He rebuilt better barns, and erected the brick house in which Mr. and Mrs. Andrew departed this life. The brick house was burned Aug. 28, 1890. They raised their children with the utmost care, training them in industry and intelligence, according to the precepts of the Bible. They attended the Congregational church at Bradford Centre most of the time, but Mr. Andrew became deeply interested in immersion, and he and his sons, Nathan, John, and Samuel, were among the largest contributors to the building of the Baptist church, near the Mill Village; indeed, Mr. Andrew gave the church about half the pews in it. Mrs. Andrew, after ninety, would repeat numerous hymns learned in her youth. Nathan Andrew d. Sept. 7, 1853, aged eighty-six, and his wife, Hannah Gregg Andrew, d.
