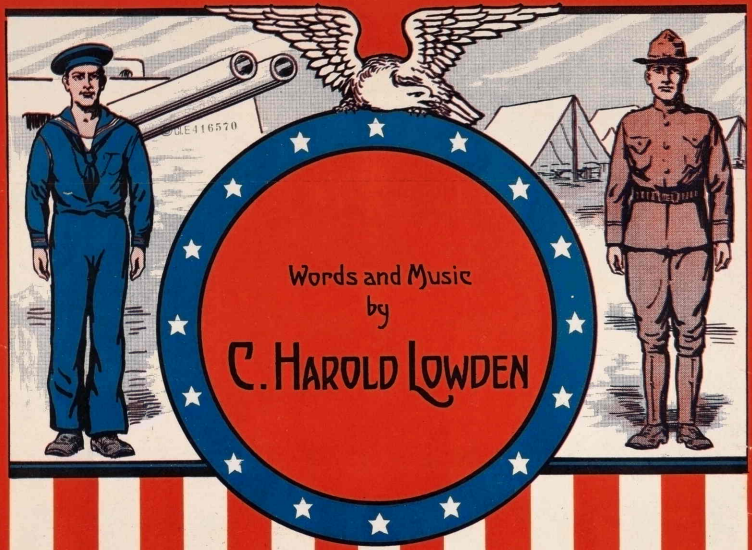
JAN -5 1918

WHAT DO YOU SAY, BOYS?



THE ACME PUBLISHING Co
200 N. 15TH STREET
PHILADELPHIA

WHAT DO YOU SAY, BOYS?

Words and Music by
C. HAROLD LOWDEN

Tempo di Marcia

Boys, your Un - cle Sam is call - ing you, He has some-thing he's compelled to do;
Home and loved ones now are jeop-ar-dized, Noth - ings safe if we are Kais - er-ized;

'Cross the seas a mon-ster's run-ning wild, Who must be stopped ere all the world's defiled, So Un-cle
Ev - en chil - dren, in - no - cent and sweet, Are tram-pled down like grass beneath his feet, So come, my

Sam is ask - ing you to lend a hand, On the side of right to take your stand;
boy, and on your should-er get a gun, Soon they'll face old Ber - lin on the run,

An - swer now ac - cord - ing to the needs, It is for Lib - er - ty he pleads.
Then we'll turn back home with many a cheer, And with a conscience that is clear.

Copyright 1917 by The Acme Publishing Co.

CHORUS

What do you say, boys, what do you say?_____ Speak for the hon - or of the dear old U. S. A._____ For it's strict - ly up to you If the old Red, White and Blue Shall re-ceive from all the homage which is its due, What do you say, boys, what do you say?_____ Wonderful is the part that you are called to play,_____ Now, be-cause they dragged us in it, Go and get a "Hun" a min-ute_____ All the world is wait-ing on what you say.

423384