

Somerset, Gloucester, Wilts and Hereford counties, and in 1815 among the Friends in Middlesex, Kent, Surrey and Sussex. In 1816, she visited and preached in Berks, Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire; also in London and Westminster. In 1818, she visited and labored in Essex; the next year at Peel and Westminster; and in 1820 at Ackworth and in Yorkshire. She had visited Wales and most parts of Ireland, staying sometimes at her cousin Edward Dudley's, in Roscrea. At Mount Mellick, in Wycomb, near London, she saw her relatives Joseph and Mary Savory. She mentioned being at Roscommon, Ballymahon, Dublin, Cork, Limerick, Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester, Guernsey, and places in Scotland. She mentions a cordial reception by her cousin Eleazer Dudley of Mount Mellick.

There is also an account, in this book, of the Last Illness and Death of Hannah Dudley, who died March 19, 1810, aged 26, daughter of this Robert and Mary Dudley, of Clonmel, at which place Miss Hannah was born.

WILLIAM HENRY DUDLEY, M.D.,

WAS born at Roscrea, Tipperary County, Ireland, October 7, 1811. He received a classical education, and was graduated at the Royal College of Surgeons, Dublin, in 1833. In 1831, he sailed for Jamaica, where he was elected a Fellow of King's College of Physicians and Surgeons, and where he practised his profession until 1841, when he settled in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1842, he received a Diploma from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York, and in 1851 was elected curator of the New York Medical College, holding the office for several years. He was one of the founders of Long Island College Hospital, the first of its kind in this country, with which institution he had been connected from its incorporation as a member of the council. He also acted as its treasurer, its president, and as a member of the board of regents. In fact, but for his untiring labors, his counsel and his generous pecuniary support, it is doubtful whether the college hospital could have been established or its permanence secured. In 1848, Dr. Dudley was elected a member of the New York Academy of Medicine. He was also a member of the King's County Medical and other Societies. He died in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 9, 1886. App'l's Cyc. of Biog.
