SPOONER,

SARAH^s WHIPPLE (Prudence^s Dudley, Samuel^s, Francis^s), born Dec. 8, 1740, and died March 22, 1796. Married first, Shearjashub Spooner of Petersham, Mass., May 13, 1760. Mr. Spooner was a farmer, house carpenter and joiner. He removed from Petersham to Heath, Mass., in 1779. He served as a volunteer in the revolutionary war, marching Aug. 21, 1777, to reinforce Gen. Stark. Five of his children lived to more than eighty years. (Four of his grandsons [sons of Paul Spooner] were graduated physicians, and have been eminent in their profession. One was a dentist. One was a noted author and published several works, the principal being a Dictionary of Painters, Engravers, Sculptors, Architects, etc., in six quarto volumes, with over a thousand portraits.) He had ten children, says the Spooner Memorial by Thomas Spooner, private edition, 1871. The children were most of them born at Petersham, and were as follows :
