

Joseph Andrews house on this place, upon which he said the corner of the old John Andrews barn used to stand and that near to it were pieces of brick where he stated the old John Andrews house once stood. No one can now tell who built the old house and barn. The old house now on the place was built by Joseph Andrews,<sup>4</sup> whose son Elias, was the first child born there, in 1772. This farm is supposed to have descended to Joseph, son of Lieut. John and remained in that branch of the family until recent times and was recently owned by Walter H. Stowe. By deed of Oct. 8, 1703, he gave eight acres of land to his son John. In that deed he called the place his homestead and this was less than five years before his death. This place is in the north part of Essex, on the south side of Choate Brook or Hardy Creek at the ancient Hoffield bridge and near the north end of Belcher's Lane and north of the Averill's Hill place before mentioned. John Andrews, Jr. sold the land given him by his father, on Feb. 9, 1704 to John Wainwright for £400, and about the same time moved to Norwich, Ct.

The name of John Andrews frequently appears in the records of Ipswich, also in the land and court records showing the following conveyances in which he was interested:

Sept. 27, 1660. John Andrews and wife Jane, of Ipswich, sold to John Choate of same place, about 8 acres of marsh, south side of Chebacco river, at a place called Chebacco Marshes.

John Andrews Sen'r of Chebacco sold to Sergt. Thomas Burnam same town, carpenter, two 3 acre lotts: one granted unto Mr. Sam'l Symonds & the other unto the grantor apoynted by the selectmen to be layd out next unto Sergt. Burnam's at farr Chebacco, neare to the pasture given to the free scoole, acknowledged Mar. 19, 1673; "and Jane, his wife, did freely surrender her thirds or interest or dowry in the land herein conveyed."

Nov. 20, 1673. John Andrews, Sen'r of Chebacco, carpenter, bought of Rich'd Lee of same place in Essex county, planter, "All that six acres of marsh, more or less, situate, lying and being on the ffar syde of that creeke that bounds Proctor's Land & bounded by that creeke, butting down to a cove towards Goodman Dane's Island to a great creeke and so upon a straight line up to that creeke to Proctor's ground. The aforesayd six acres of marsh being alienated, bargained & sold by me, Richard Lee, unto the sayd John Andrews, Sen'r, for & in consideration of nyne pounds in corn in hand payd."

June 16, 1674. John Andrews of Ipswich, carpenter, bought of Samuel Symonds of Ips. Gent. "All that peell of his land or lott, belonging to the farmme or tenement of the sd Samuel symonds, which Killigresse Rosse now holdeth of the sayd Samuel containeing by estimation three acres, be it more or less, with all and singular its appurtenances which land lyeth at the lotts adjoining to the scoole farme of Ipswich commonly called the new pasture in the Towne and shire aforesayd, excepting the commonage," &c.

Oct. 25, 1673. John Andrews, Sen'r of Ipswich, in consideration of a small parcell of marsh & £8, deeds to Henry Bennett of the same town "All that my division lott, being a middle lott granted to me by the town of Ipswich aforesd, N: 32 in the town Book, situate, lying & being in Ipswich aforesd, at Castle Neck, having the land of Daniel Warner on the one syde and the lott of Samuel Ingalls on the other syde, upon Wigwam Hill, with all and singular the appurtenances," &c. Acknowledged Jan. 27, 1675. The marsh which Bennett deeded to Andrews same day was "A part of my ffarme lying neare to the foote bridge over the creeke, being compassed by a creeke & ditched out to part it from the farme. Containning one acre & a halfe, be it more or less, as it is bounded by the creeke and ditch afore mentioned."

Oct. 29, 1675. John Andrews of Ipswich, bought of Robert Cross, Jr. of Ipswich, seaman, two parcels of marsh & land in Ipswich at an Island formerly in ye possession of Robert Cross, Sen'r, in Chebacco River, bounded, the one parcell containing six acres, be it more or less, bounded by a creeke north, the land of Benjamin Mar-