

A Latin inscription (from the pen of Rev. Samuel Miller, D. D.) upon a monument to his memory erected at Princeton, N. J., adds the following:

"He resigned the Presidency, and devoted the rest of his life to the study of the sacred Scriptures, to preaching the gospel, and to the management of the common concerns of the church of God. After a long and most useful life, he fell asleep in Jesus, at Philadelphia, on the nineteenth day of May, A. D., 1846, in the eighty-sixth year of his age. What was mortal, was, on the 22d day of the same month, by many friends, grieving, but not without most blessed hopes, deposited in this tomb. Gifted with very many mental endowments, and with fluent and graceful eloquence, he always possessed great and salutary influence in the General Assembly and other councils of the Church. He was a man of sincere and distinguished piety; a citizen zealous for the public welfare; and a patron of literature and science. On account of the distinguished virtues of this venerable man, and his most faithful and useful services to the College of New Jersey, the trustees have caused this monument to be erected."

His Autobiography was published by the Carters, of New York, 1848.

SAMUEL GREEN,⁵ (Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ Samuel,² Thomas,¹) eldest son of Samuel Green⁴ of Malden; b. there April 15, 1729; m. 1, about 1752, HANNAH GREEN,⁵ [182] dau. of Dea. Joseph⁴ and Ruth Green of Stoneham. They were published Dec. 1, 1752. It is said that she d. of convulsions, occasioned by hearing the cannon at the time of some military operation; perhaps the battle of Bunker Hill. Not long after, he m. 2, MARY LANMAN of Cambridge. He saw her, when she was visiting, or it may be sojourning, at the house of Joseph Lynde of Malden; and though much older, made proposals to her, and married her.* It is stated that she was of a highly respectable family.

He lived in Malden, of which town he appears to have been selectman, 1758, 1761, 1762. The part of Malden where he lived, is now the town of Melrose. It is said he never used glasses. He d. about 1820, n. 91. He had no children by his first wife. By second wife, he had—

407. Samuel,⁶ b. —; m. 1, Sarah Sprague. She d. March 17, 1809, a. 27. [Gravestone.] 2, Anna Sprague. They were sisters, and daus. of Phineas Sprague of Malden.
408. †James Lanman,⁶ b. —; m. Susan Fowle of Woburn.
409. Peter,⁶ b. —; unm.; d. about 30 years of age.

* These statements were made to the compiler by a grand-dau. of Mary (Lanman) Green, and as they wear an aspect of probability, he ventures to insert them. It is well known that during the occupation of Cambridge by the American army, many of the inhabitants were obliged to retire to other towns.
