

London, May 7th, 1700, O. S., died in New York, September 12th, 1774, and was buried September 14th under the middle aisle of Trinity Church.

Paul Richard, Mayor of New York, was born in New York, April 7th, 1697, died, October 22d, 1756, and was buried under the middle aisle of Trinity Church. He left £400 to King's (Columbia) College and £50 to Trinity Church.

Mr. John Austin Stevens in his Colonial Records of the New York Chamber of Commerce says, viz :

How far Mr. Bache identified himself with the great public movements in opposition to the Stamp Act in 1765, is not known. In 1770 he united heartily with his fellow merchants in their non-importation agreements, and was one of the committee to see to their execution. He does not appear to have sought political distinction. With an important business, and with the constant demands of a large family circle, he had little inclination to mix in the turbulent scenes of this stormy period. His disposition was genial, his qualities domestic; to an open-handed hospitality he added a great love for field sports, and his dog and gun were the constant companions of his hours of leisure. His favorite sporting ground was Islip, Long Island, then abounding in game. There he passed weeks in the Spring and Fall at the house of his friend, Judge Thompson.

That his public course had been satisfactory to all sides is evident from the fact that his name was on both the tickets for the Committee of Correspondence of fifty-one, and stands third upon this list of the magnates of the city. This Committee was organized in May, 1774, on the news reaching the city of the passage of the Boston Port Bill. Mr. Bache was a regular attendant at
