

Robert Wade, Jr., was married and had nine children, one of whom was Captain James Wade, who married Hannah Hinman. By this union there were twelve children. Isaac, the sixth child of the marriage was united to Lois Osborn, November 15, 1786. There were ten children as follows: Elizabeth, William, Phebe, Jane, Elias, Sarah, Hannah, Mary B., Isaac E., Jr. Phebe lived to the age of one hundred years and one month. Sarah, "Aunt Sally," lived to be ninety years old. I knew them both very well. I saw Aunt Sally about a year before her death, and even at that age she had a lovely pink and white complexion that youth might envy.

The offspring of the eighth generation are five times great grand children.

Of either Captain James Wade, or his son Isaac, tradition says that he eloped with his bride, and that when on the deck of the vessel bearing them to this country he held her up, as he said "to take a last look at old England," she replied; "If I thought that, I would rather see a rope around your neck." In relating the story, my informant told me that it was, as her husband said, "her last look at her native land," for she never returned.—[ED.]

- (1) Benjamin Wade, born 1646; died about 1700, married Ann Looker.

Children.

Generation.

- | | |
|---|-------------------------------|
| 2 | 1. Robert Wade born ? |
| 2 | 2. John " " 1688. |
| 2 | 3. Benjamin Wade, Jr., born ? |

- (2) Robert Wade, born? son of Benjamin Wade and Ann Looker, married? Second time to ?

Children.

Generation.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 3 | 1. Robert Wade, Jr., born? A soldier under General Wolfe. |
|---|---|