

He was an apprentice to John Ball, of Hollis, N. H., and learned the art of cutting granite and marble, and when he was twenty-one, purchased the place of Mr. Ball, and continued the business. He also gave some attention to mason work. The abutments on which rested the bridge over the Nashua at Runnel's Mills were constructed by him, and were the only ones that stood the test when the ice gave way in the spring, while the bridge was below the falls. He was a good husband and father, being known as "Major Hubbard," though he never held any military position. Monumental stones furnished by him may be seen in the cemeteries of Hollis, Nashua, Litchfield, Groton, Brookline, Amherst, and Milford, where he was well known and highly esteemed. He probably never had an enemy.

Amos and Jonas Hubbard (twins) were born December 13th, 1783. Jonas married and settled in Providence, R. I., but had no children. He died not far from 1825, aged about 42. His widow married Mr. French, of Merrimack, N. H., and still resides there. Amos was tall and erect, with a very pleasant countenance. He was frank and open-hearted, and though a farmer, was a perfect gentleman. He was a great reader of the Bible, and was well informed on every subject, and his society was very fascinating to old and young. He was highly respected and esteemed by all who knew him. He died at his home in Amherst, N. H., January 30th, 1858, aged 74 years, 1 month, and 17 days.

Hannah Hubbard was born August 28th, 1785, and died June 23d, 1786, aged nearly 10 months.

Anna Hubbard, born January 5th, 1787.

Phinehas Hubbard, born March 8th, 1789; died January 23d, 1852, aged 63 years. He was a mason by trade, and carried on the business in connection with farming in Hopkinton, Mass., where he was highly respected and
