Rebecca Dodge Eaton, b. June 3, 1796, spent her youth with her aunt, Mrs. Lucretia Haddock, in Salisbury, now Franklin. She devoted her life to teaching, mainly at Utica and Rochester, N. Y. She was gifted with a fine literary and poetic taste. She came to see her mother, and to aid in the care of her the last of her life. She spent her last years with her brother John, in Sutton, and d. at Eaton Grange, Dec. 9, 1852.

John Eaton, b. Nov. 7, 1798, learned the currier's trade at Croydon, and worked at this for Consul Jarvis at Weathersfield, Vt., and afterward for his uncle, Wm. Haddock, in that portion of Salisbury now known as Franklin. His grandfather, Caleb Kimball, when aged, offered him his homestead farm on Kimball's hill if he would take charge of it and support him and wife till death. He accepted this proposition, and became a farmer. He m. in Sutton, June 5, 1828, Janet Collins, b. in Fishersfield, Jan. 2, 1808, the daughter of Nathan and Hannah (Gregg) Andrews. In John Eaton was united remarkable vigor of mind and body. He was a man of great energy and industry, and added farm to farm until he was the largest land owner in his section. He contributed to the excellent education which his children received. In Mrs. Eaton were blended strength and gentleness with the loftiest spirit of consecration of the New England mother. She sought to communicate to her children aspirations for a broader and higher life. She seized every opportunity for their education, but was still more eager for their religious training. She often gathered them about her, "as a hen
