

middle of November, 1657, died January 15, 1737; married Mary Palmer, of Rehoboth, February 23, 1663, who died April 14, 1757.

Third Generation.

Israel, son of Dr. Joseph and Mary (Palmer) Daggett, was born in Rehoboth, Mass., March 20, 1705--4, died there 1777, married 1st, April 15, 1724, Hannah Dorman of Boxford, Mass., married 2d, Lydia (supposed Dorman) There is not much of special interest on record concerning Israel. He followed farming, having inherited from his father a large number of acres, in which was included a tract purchased by the city of Pawtucket, in 1896, for Park purposes. He built the house now standing there, in which his ten children were born, and many grand children.

Fourth Generation.

Israel, son of Israel and Lydia (Boxford) Daggett, born in Rehoboth, April 28, 1737; died about 1776; was married by Thomas Bowen, to Frances (Bannister) Bowen, widow, Rehoboth, July 15, 1765. Not very much is known of him from any records yet found, and only such facts as have been related from those old enough to have remembered him, have been preserved. He was known to have been a physician of high standing in Newport, R. I., where he resided, and is the father of Lydia (Daggett) Butts, the object of this sketch. He received his medical learning in England, but this record is shortened by an early death. There was born of Dr. Israel and Frances (Bannister Bowen) Daggett: