

James IV. confirmed a charter by John Broun, burgess of Edinburgh, to his son, Andrew Broun of the lands of Malcumstoun in the shire of Edinburgh and regality of Renfrew, dated 5 June, 1498. (Reg. Mag. Sig., Lib. 13, No. 412.)

There is a Charter of Alienation by James Shaw of Sauchie to his cousin, William Broun, son and heir to William Broun of Sauchie, in 1480, probably of his half of Gardenkyr. (Crawford's Notes of Sauchie Writs.)

Adam, Abbot of Dunfermline, grants a charter to William Broun, son of William Broun of Colstoun, of all and singular the lands of Gardenkyr, on William's resignation, 1480. (Ibid.)

[This is evidently the second son of the William below, who is sometimes styled son and heir of William Broun of Sauchie and sometimes as "of Colstoun." It is clear that this cannot be Cumber-Colston, as there is no William laird of that place at this date. Alexander, therefore, is the son and heir; William the second son of William Broun of Couston, the son of William Brown of Sauchie.—J. B. B. M.]

James Shaw of Sauchie grants an obligation to his well-beloved cousin, William Broun, son and heir til William Broun of Salchy, having bought lands from him in the Easter Sauchie, 20 June, 1480. (Ibid.)
