

APPENDIX.

Timothy Johnson.

Timothy Johnson was born, probably, about 1644, yet no records have been found to show when or where he was born. He married Dec. 15, 1674, Rebecca, dau. of John and Rebecca Aslett, b. May 6, 1652, in Andover, where their children were all born, and where he d. Mar. 15, 1688. His widow in 1692, was among the number accused of witchcraft. (See Bailey's Hist. of Andover, p. 200.) He was Constable in 1676.

The above are all the children of Timothy Johnson whose names and birthdates are found in the Birth-Records of Andover, and yet the idea prevails that Penelope Johnson, who was killed by Indians Feb. 22, 1698, was the daughter of Timothy. Her birthdate is not found in the records, but in Abbot's Hist. of Andover p. 43, of persons killed by Indians is mentioned, "Penelope Johnson, aged 19," dau. of Timothy Johnson, and Miss Bailey in her Hist. of And. p. 183, in accordance with Abbot, says, "They (the Indians) also attacked the house of Mr. Timothy Johnson, and killed his dau. Miss Penelope Johnson, a young lady of nineteen years." She also says, in a foot note on p. 116, "Genealogists differ as to whether she was the dau. of Thomas or Timothy Johnson." The positive statement of both of these authors that she was "aged 19," compared with the birth record of Timothy's children, makes it nearly impossible that she was the dau. of Timothy, as the record shows that his son, Timothy, Jr., was born Mar. 25, 1679, and if Penelope was aged "19," on Feb. 22, 1698, she must have been b. in 1679, which could hardly be possible unless she was the twin-sister of Timothy, Jr. The "Holt Genealogy" gives her name among the children of Thomas Johnson, and the same has been done in this work. The fact that Penelope was killed
