

	PAGE.
Arica, description of,	479
Blow-hole Bay,	481
The bay and port of Pisco,	482

CHAPTER XXV.

Description of Callao, the port and citidal of Lima,	486
Account of old Callao,	487
Road from Callao to Lima,	488
Remarks upon Earthquakes,	489
City of Lima, description of,	490
Viceroy of Lima,	493
The Inquisition, some account of,	495
Trial and punishment of a woman for heresy,	496
Particular description of the Inquisition,	497
Mint at Lima, description of,	498
Description of the Churches in Lima,	503
Situation, trade, and productions of Lima,	506
Remarks on prisoners at Lima,	510
General remarks on the kingdom of Peru,	511
Number of inhabitants in Lima,	518
Colleges, Meteorological Statement, &c.	519
Inhabitants of the kingdom of Peru,	521

CHAPTER XXVI.

Departure from Lima—Description of the Lobos Islands,	524
Town of Paiza—Gulph and town of Guayaquil—Point Helena—Town and river Tumbes,	528
Departure from the coast of Peru,	529
Description of Wake's Island and Rocks,	ib.
Passage to Canton—Remarks upon the Chinese Empire,	530
Marriages among the Chinese,	532
Marriage ceremonies among the Hindoos,	533
Funerals of the Chinese and places of interment of the dead,	534
Lord Macartney's embassy to China,	535
Dutch embassy to China, description of,	536
Foreign women not allowed to enter the Chinese empire,	540
Custom of Chinese women having small feet,	541

CHAPTER XXVII.

Departure from Canton,	543
Some particulars and description of the Cape of Good Hope,	544
Customs and manners of the inhabitants,	545
Method of travelling—Lion's Rump,	548
Hottentots—Caffres—Bosgesmen,	550
Animals, productions, and curiosities of the cape,	556
Passage across the South Atlantic Ocean and arrival at Boston,	559

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Remarks upon Embargoes and other commercial restrictions,	561
Voyage to the Island of St. Bartholomews,	562
The Perseverance seized by the government there,	565
Makes her escape and runs out by the batteries,	566
Description of the manner of effecting the enterprize,	570
Passage home,	571
Hurricane,	572

PREFACE.

In preparing this book for the public, I have had several objects in view. The principal one was the hope and belief that a large part of the information, which it contains, would be new and interesting to the community. In regard to the Oriental Islands par-