Samuel<sup>294</sup>. "When eighteen years old he was brought apparently to death's door with consumption, but rallied and lived a consumptive invalid eighteen or twenty years more. A few years before his death he tried first a residence in Florida, then in Northern Alabama, but without any material benefit to his health. Afterwards he tried tent life for one summer, as one of Prof. Owen's company, in making geological explorations in the lead regions of Wisconsin, and finally settled in New Harmony, Ind., married, had two children, and died there."

- 295. Seth Hayden of Winsted (Seth<sup>141</sup>, Samuel<sup>54</sup>, Samuel<sup>23</sup>, Samuel<sup>10</sup>, Daniel<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>); born Feb. 21, 1807; died, April 2, 1825, æ. 18; no issue.

Seth<sup>295</sup>. "He was apparently the most robust one of the family. When just past his eighteenth year he was taken violently sick while at work in the field, and reached home with difficulty, where all efforts to save his life proved unavailing."

—Collin<sup>297</sup> M. Hayden.
