

AN IRISHMAN BECOMES AN ENGLISH HERO. Sergeant O'Leary, Winner of the Victoria Cross, Who Has Been Received in London with an Enthusiastic Welcome Described as "Hardly Equalled in London's History," Passing Through Trafalgar Square with T. P. O'Connor at His Side. (Photos © American Press Assn.)

Scene in Trafalgar Square While the Procession in Honor of Sergeant O'Leary Was Passing Through.

French Soldiers, Protected by Helmets Against Shrapnel, by Breastplates Against Bullets, and by Masks Against Gas Fumes, Throwing Grenades at the Germans. (Photos © from Underwood & Underwood.)

Crew of the "Grampus" Cheering the British Submarine "E-11," as She Came Out from the Dardanelles Straits.

Where the U-Boat Penetrated to the Very Heart of Constantinople Shipping, Torpedoing and Sinking Several Turkish Ships.

Gabriele d'Annunzio (Left), the Italian Poet, Who Has Been Chosen to Write the History of Italy's War with Austria, in the Uniform of a Lieutenant in the Italian Army. (Photo from Henry Ruschin.)

A MOTORCYCLE MACHINE GUN, A NEW INSTRUMENT IN THE WAR, PHOTOGRAPHS OF WHICH ARE REACHING THIS COUNTRY FOR THE FIRST TIME, BEING EXTRICATED FROM A "ROUGH" BY BRITISH SOLDIERS. (Photo © by International News Service.)