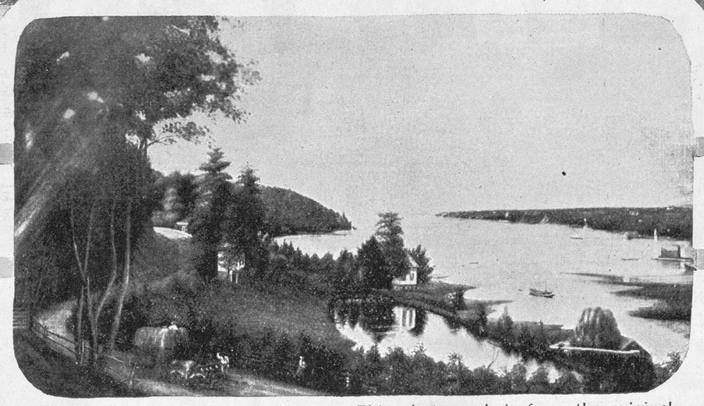
The Valentine Homestead house, at Roslyn, L. I., as it appeared before being altered by the Roslyn Neighborhood Association.

The Valentine Homestead house as it now appears, the home of the Roslyn Neighborhood Association. It was opened on May 16, 1916.

The Roslyn Neighborhood Association Is Rejuvenating Roslyn.

Photos by W. H. Pickering.

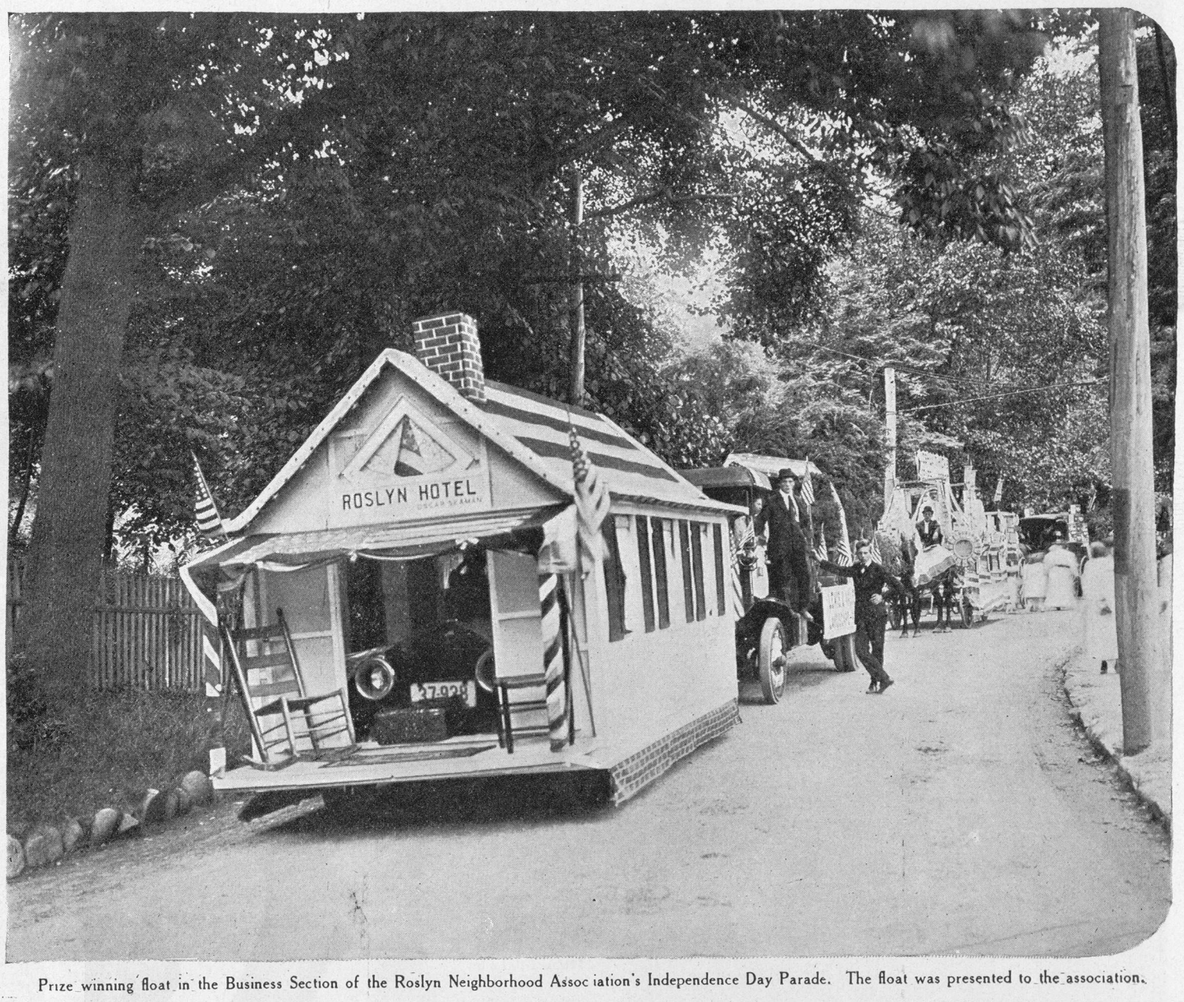


Old Roslyn and Hempstead Harbor. This photograph is from the original painting by Billet in the possession of Joshua T. Hicks.

The Girl Pioneers' float took the first prize in their section of the Roslyn Fourth of July parade. Behind this float is that of the Presbyterian Sunday School. Following are the Boy Scouts.

Fire Chiefs Fyfe of Glenwood, Snedeker of Roslyn and Robbins of Highlands leading the Roslyn Independence Day parade. Following is the car of the President H. D. Walbridge of the Roslyn Neighborhood Ass'n.

New mill erected on the site of the old Roslyn Paper Mill by Harold Godwin, grandson of William Cullen Bryant.



Prize winning float in the Business Section of the Roslyn Neighborhood Association's Independence Day Parade. The float was presented to the association.