

POLISH SOLDIER, SERVING WITH A RUSSIAN BRIGADE IN FRANCE, HAS JUST HAD THE EXPERIENCE OF CAPTURING HIS OWN BROTHER, FIGHTING WITH THE GERMANS "BY COMPULSION," ACCORDING TO THE FRENCH INSCRIPTION ON THE PHOTOGRAPH. THE YOUNG CAPTIVE IS WEARING THE NEW GERMAN HELMET.

(Photo © Underwood & Underwood.)

FRENCH SOLDIERS FIND A CHAPEL ORGAN ALMOST UNDAMAGED IN A WAR-RUINED CHURCH IN NORTHERN FRANCE.

(Photo © Int. Film Service, Inc.)

RUSSIAN ARTILLERYMAN EXTRACTING THE "STING" FROM A GERMAN SHELL WHICH FELL INTO HIS FRONT YARD WITHOUT EXPLODING.

(Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)

THE SOLDIERS' "R. F. D." IN THE WOODS NEAR THE VERDUN FRONT.

Army postmen make collections from this and similar boxes daily.

(Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)

A MOSLEM OF THE FRENCH COLONIAL FORCES IN FRANCE AT PRAYER.

With a chaplet of sacred beads lying on the ground before him, having first, with the aid of a pocket compass, found the direction of Mecca.

(Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)

Mlle. MARCELLE SEMNER, Twenty-one years old, who has received both the Legion of Honor and the Military Medal for "extraordinary bravery" in having, near the village of Eclusier, during the retreat from Charleroi, opened a canal bridge and thrown away the key, while under incessant German fire, thus holding up a German corps for some hours.

(Photo © International Film Service.)

A "POILU" INDUCTING TWO RUSSIAN COMRADES INTO THE FIRST MYSTERIES OF THE FRENCH LANGUAGE.

(Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)