

A general view of the "Arabian Fete," produced in the Rosemary Open Air Theatre at Huntington, L. I., a week ago yesterday by New York society women, the proceeds going toward the Free Milk for France Fund
Paul Thompson.

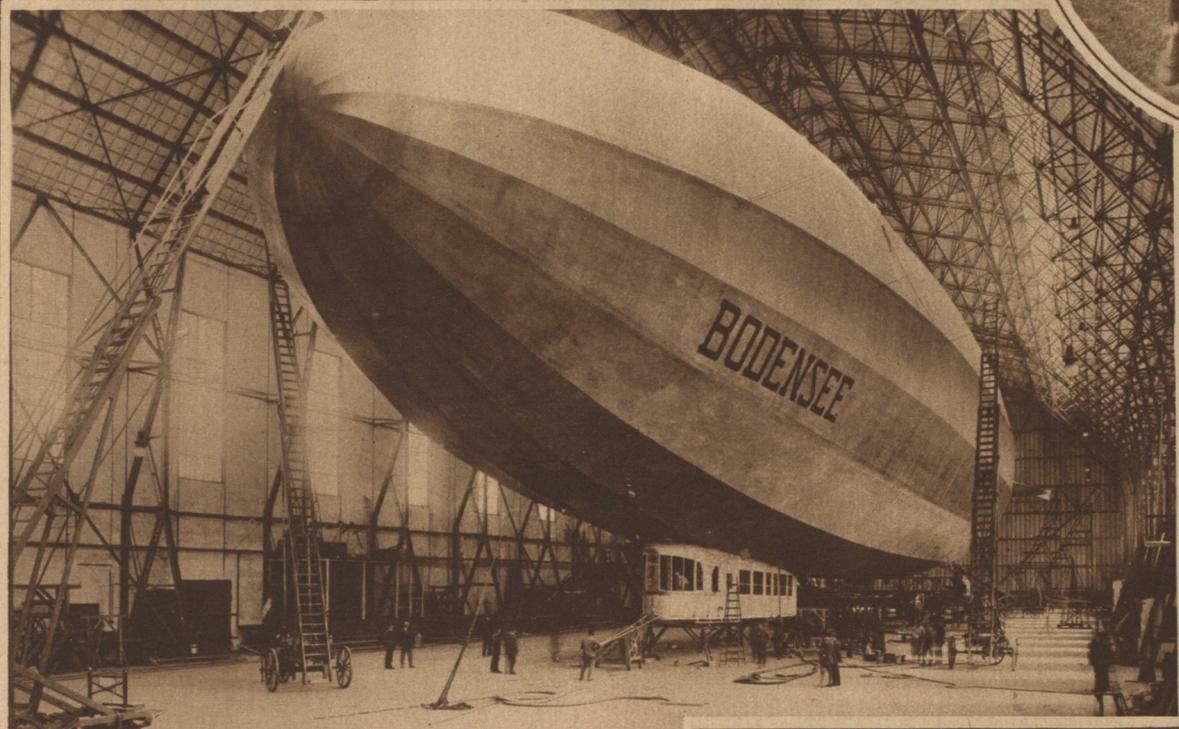

Right—Miss Neysa M. McMein, popular magazine cover artist, who was one of the many charming girls at the "Arabian Fete."
Paul Thompson.

A remarkable action photograph of Tom Mix, popular motion picture star, taking a header from his pony while pursued by a desperate band of movie Indians.
Courtesy Fox Films

Meet Emil, former French war orphan, and now mascot of the University of Pennsylvania's football team. Emil has been adopted by Warden Donaldson, a former Penn gridiron star.
Ledger Photo.

Left—Mrs. Carey Evans and her bonnie daughter. The little tot's grandfather is England's man of the hour, Premier Lloyd George.
Underwood.

The Hamburg American Line's new commercial Zeppelin, one of the airships being prepared for regular airline service between Germany and the United States.
Central News.

Right—Unusual photograph of a Bavarian soldier sleeping in a Munich show window, which has been shattered by bullets.
Press Illustration.

The particular hobby of Mildred Harris Chaplin, wife of the famous Charlie, is roses. The gardens of her Hollywood home supplied two magnificent bouquets of them to President and Mrs. Wilson on their recent visit to Los Angeles.
Press Illustration.

Left—The wreckage on the beach of Corpus Christi after the great tropical hurricane of September 14—a gulf storm that caused the death of hundreds, made thousands homeless and resulted in a property damage of millions. Here it was that the greatest loss of life occurred.
International.

Germany's ex-Crown Prince, his shabbily gowned wife, Cecelie, and their two pale-faced eldest sons, Hebertus and Friedrich, reunited for the first time in two years during a five day visit to Wieringen, the ex-Prince's Holland retreat. The former Crown Princess was once known as the best dressed woman in the courts of Europe.
Paul Thompson.