

In Germany the chickens are leading a roving life. The farmers build hen houses on wheels which they roll out on the fields after the harvest, allowing the hens to feed on the surplus grain. At night the hens return to the houses and are moved to another location. Gullams.

Left — When the Mauretania docked in New York last Monday it had on board Sir George B. Hunter, its designer and builder. This is his first trip to the United States since 1914. If Sir George's beliefs prove practicable there need be no limit to the length of future ships. W. N. U.

"Life in a civilized community does have its inconveniences," patiently sighs Mr. Elephant, as he rolls his huge bulk over and allows Head Keeper Jim Coyle of the Central Park Zoo to give him a thorough Saturday night cleaning with the aid of an up-to-date vacuum cleaner. W. N. U.

Right — Clarence H. Mackay and his daughter, Katharine, who arrived last Monday on the Mauretania. He brought with him $500,000 worth of jewels belonging to his mother, who is soon to visit this country. W. N. U.
