Dear Mr. Moffat,

Many thanks for your letter & the cheque for £20: towards my fare; & I have sent you for a further £10: as I find that the expenses of the fare from Jerusalem to London average at about £30: (1st Class Single Cabin as agreed.)

I am much concerned to hear that you are so ill, & hope & pray that you may soon be better. You must just rest quietly & get well as soon as ~~possible~~ you can.

In the Autumn I shall hope to have many
a long & interesting talk with you during the compilation of the book. Meanwhile, my father likes, presumes, & sustains you to health,

Yours, in Him,

Emma Newlandsmith

P.S. Unless the £10: is already posted, it will now be best to address it to me:-
