AND STILL ANOTHER!

SONG FOLIO No. 4

(No Duplication of Previous Publications.)

ARE you surprised at our issuing a new Song Folio when its wonderful predecessor, No. 3, is still in the zenith of its popularity? The explanation is very simple;—the public demand it, and we believe we possess enough business sense to realize that he who serves the public best profiteth most—hence this new volume.

And now a few, a very few, words about the book itself. To say it is better than the No. 3 is rather more than we feel justified in asserting, as we honestly consider No. 3 to be the very acme of Song Folios. But we strongly insist that it is equally as good, and moreover "up to date." It is only reasonable to believe, in the face of the great competition in this line of musical publications, that we would not think of issuing a book that would not fully maintain the superlatively high standard set by our previous Folios; therefore, when we say that neither money, time nor expense have been spared in the compilation of this volume, the musical public will accept our statement as implying the highest possible degree of excellence.

You must, by a close and critical examination of the appended Table of Contents, be the judge of our success. And we cannot refrain from calling especial attention to some of the many magnificent selections therein contained, to show that we have been fully conscious of the varying tastes of music-lovers, and have done our level best to gratify all. For instance, such pieces as—"The Nightingale's Song," "In the Chimney Corner," "Snow Flakes," "Yellow Roses," "Summer Night," "Twixt Love and Duty," "Time and Tide," "Ideal She" (from Miss Helyett), "That Magic Song," "For a Dream's Sake," some of the most tuneful numbers from the operas of "La Cigale," "Capt. Therese" and "La Tyrolienne," and very many other first-class songs too numerous to particularize.
