Introduction.

1. Tell me did you ev - er have the pleasure, To hear a Curbstone
2. One day I was sit - ting at my window, En - joy - ing much the
3. But as - ton - ish - ment soon o - ver - took me. There was a dreadful Band? Sounds so queer would greet your ear. All the dis - cords in the breeze, It was quite warm, look'd like a storm. So I tho't I take my fight, The I - tal - ian and his "monk" on the band got "honk," For they fought both left and land. There's an I- rishman, a Nigger and a Dutchman, A Rus- sian and a case. When right below me on the sidewalk, An I- tal- ian or- gan right, The Po- lice patrol then came a running, And quick- ly stop'd the Turk, On odd instruments they play, The whole of the day, For they're too "tired" to came, The Curb- stone Band, was close at hand, And to- geth- er they did fray, Side by side they all did ride, At the sta- tion then did work. There's a fife, } flame. On the fife, } flute, fid- dle and a lute, The biggest old bass in the land, A play. On the fife, }

cornet in G, a clar-i-o-net in C, All play'd by the Curbstone Band, Oh my! There's a CHORUS.

fife, flute, fid-dle and a lute, The big-gest old bass in the land, A cornet in G, a clar-i-o-net in C, All played by the Curb-stone Band.

After last verse. And the monkey join'd the Curb-stone Band.
