VIKKI CARR, JOHN GARY ON "THE DANNY KAYE SHOW" MARCH 30

Singers Vikki Carr and John Gary are the guest stars on "The Danny Kaye Show" in color Wednesday, March 30 (10:00-11:00 PM, PST), on the CBS Television Network.

In the opening comedy sketch Danny Kaye plays shy shoe clerk Jerome Taperman, who asks his hard-hearted boss, Mr. Fatale of the Femme Fatale Shoe Salon, for a raise. He learns he may get it if he sells 30 pairs of shoes in one afternoon.

Fatale.....	Harvey Korman	Old woman.....	Dorothy Neumann
Sandra.....	Joyce Van Patten	Stout woman.....	Kate Murtagh
		Short woman.....	Florence Lake

Later in the show Kaye plays concert violinist Otto Von Hoffritz, whose hands are insured for $1,000,000. Otto presents a problem to his wife, played by Joyce Van Patten, because he won't let his hands touch anything but a violin. Harvey Korman plays a magazine interviewer.

Vikki Carr sings "I've Grown Accustomed to Your Face" and "The Shadow of Your Smile," then joins Kaye for a duet, "Simple Melody."

Gary sings "Live Young" and "Somewhere" and joins Kaye and Miss Carr for "I'm Following You."

Through electronic magic Kaye sings a dual role in a song sketch about William Tell and his son. Kaye opens the show with the Tony Charmoli Dancers as he sings "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella" and closes the show with the song "Take Love."
