©CLE409965
SEP 10 1917

THE CRISIS

"And Lexington's, undaunted sword,
In righteousness aflame,
Shall write of blood atoned by blood,
In her redeeming name."

J. A.

Words and Music by

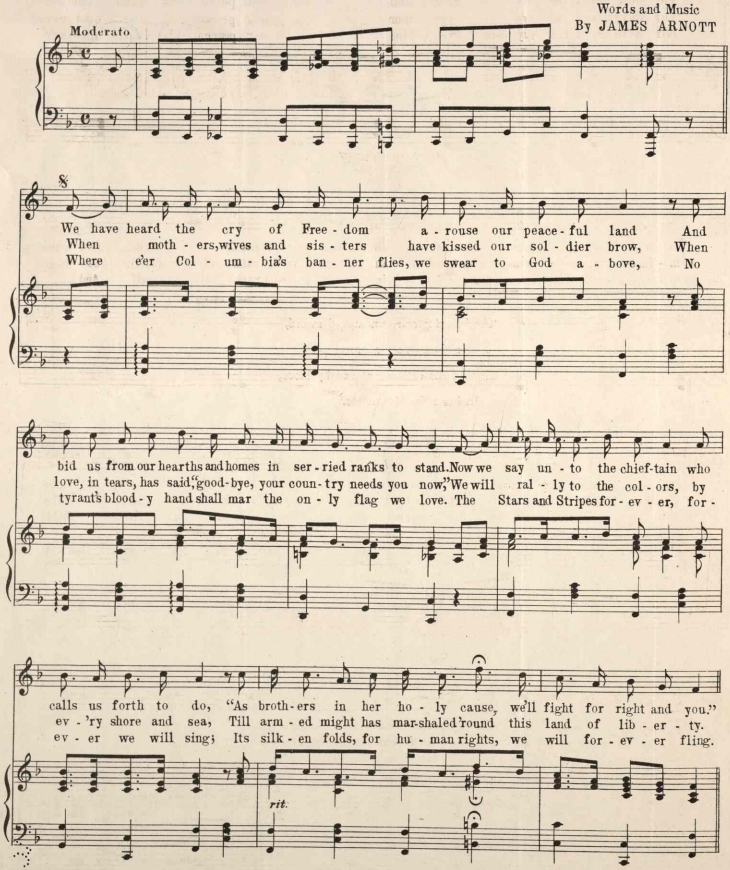
JAMES ARNOTT

Published by James Arnott
644 20th St., Oakland, Cal.

M1646
.A

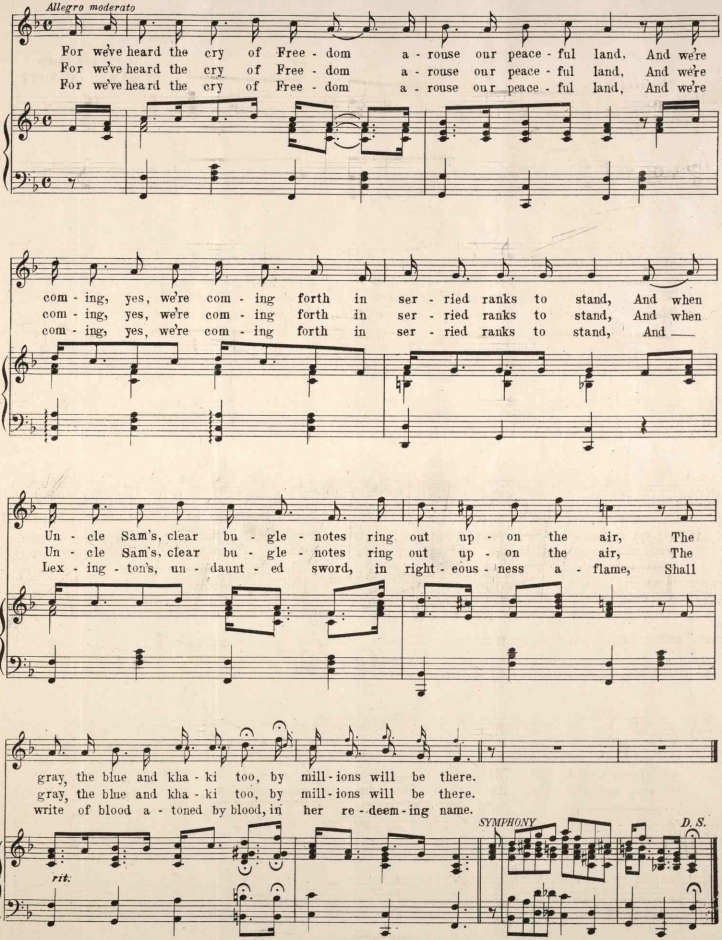
The Crisis

Words and Music
By JAMES ARNOTT



Copyright 1917, by James Arnott

CHORUS



Allegro moderato
For we've heard the cry of Free - dom a - rouse our peace - ful land, And we're
For we've heard the cry of Free - dom a - rouse our peace - ful land, And we're
For we've heard the cry of Free - dom a - rouse our peace - ful land, And we're
com - ing, yes, we're com - ing forth in ser - ried ranks to stand, And when
com - ing, yes, we're com - ing forth in ser - ried ranks to stand, And when com - ing, yes, we're com - ing forth in ser - ried ranks to stand, And Un - cle Sam's, clear bu - gle - notes ring out up - on the air, The Un - cle Sam's, clear bu - gle - notes ring out up - on the air, The Lex - ing - ton's, un - daunt - ed sword, in right - eous - ness a - flame, Shall gray, the blue and kha - ki too, by mill - ions will be there.
gray, the blue and kha - ki too, by mill - ions will be there.
write of blood a - toned by blood, in her re - deem - ing name.
rit.
SYMPHONY
D. S.