Words by Cornelia F. Bedell

Music by Henry P. Noll

In march time.

1. A - bove the world's ho - ri - zon line The stars and stripes wave as the sign That lib - er - ty is ours. A lib - er - ty that is for all, But brooks no li - cense, great or small, From man or states or powers, . . . From man or states or powers.

II

For Liberty our fathers gave
Their all—God grant we'll be as brave
To sacrifice for right.
Inspired by those who've gone before
We long to do as much—and more
To foil all tyrant might.

III

Defenders of sweet Liberty,
We'll Guard thy rights o'er land and sea,
North, south and east and west,
For from whatever clime we come,
Thou art our haven, hope and home—
United States, the blest !

IV

Of thee, United States, we sing,
World-wide, oh, may thy praises ring
Through ages yet to be.
And to the red and white and blue
We pledge our loyalty anew—
Thank God for Liberty !
