"Don't Worry, Mother, We'll Be Back" By Edward M. Hagenhurst.

There's many thousand sons they leave their dear old native land;
Across the deep blue sea, so broad, a message they do bring;
Sweet home ties they all leave behind, and justice they demand;
That "Liberty for all mankind" around the world shall ring.

CHORUS.

"Don't worry, mother, we'll be back;
There's a duty for us to perform;
From coast to coast we are on the track,
That menace to reform;
Mem'ries of old call us to come,
A cause that has made us one;
Brave deeds you'll hear, in your dreams don't you fear;
For Peace and good will we shall bring back.

2

There's many a fair daughter volunteers to do her share;
And bravely they are facing now, whatever fate shall bring;
His duty and his service for their brothers wants to care;
No fight for Peace--the sweetest word that all the world can bring.
