We'll Conquer in the End

Words by L. A. BERRY.
Con spirito.

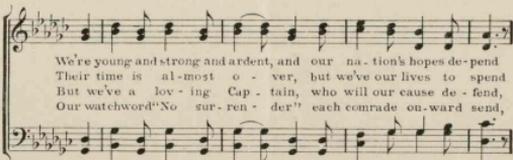

BURDETT HASSETT

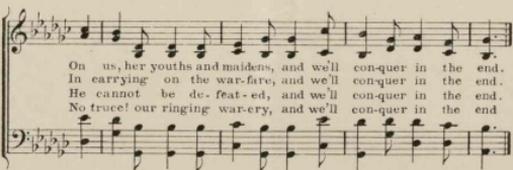

1. We're training for the con-flict, we're arm-ing for the fight;
2. We stand in life's bright morning, all ea-ger for the fray;
3. Fierce is the strife, and ceaseless, and strong and bold the foe,
4. Then ral-ly 'round the stan-dard, and set the col-ors free

We mean to stand for tem-per-ance, and bat-tle for the right.
We long to aid the vet-er-ans, who mourn their closing day;
That de-so-lates our coun-try, and works such fear-ful woe;
The bon-ny blue for tem-per-ance, the white for pu-ri-ty.

We're young and strong and ardent, and our na-tion's hopes de-pend
Their time is al-most o-ver, but we've our lives to spend
But we've a lov-ing Cap-tain, who will our cause de-fend,
Our watchword: "No sur-ren-der!" each comrade on-ward send,

On us, her youths and maidens, and we'll con-quer in the end.
In carry-ing on the war-fare, and we'll con-quer in the end.
He cannot be de-feat-ed, and we'll con-quer in the end.
No truce! our ring-ing war-cry, and we'll con-quer in the end.
